The increase in the traffic for the past three months over that of the same period last year, is very large. When asked if he could give some data by which this comparison might be made, Captain Gillelan made a few calculations, and then said: "Well, this may give you some idea: For the month of Joly the increase in the money receipts at this office over those of July, 1883, were $14,226 & 63; the increase for August was $10,755 79, and for September it was $11,082 93. This makes a total increase in the receipts for the past three months over the same three months in 1888, of $36,067 40, and that, I can tell you, means a big increase in tonnage."
